

We depend on and support XM Satellite Radio and benefit from its many services, including weather channels. This system provides variety and quality not available elsewhere. We pay for these services and should not be hindered from receiving this network.